VOL. II ISSUE 15

Dear Honors Students,

Good luck during exam week! Stop by the office at any time if you need a change of scenery from your study spot. In just a short while, you will be cozying up at home with a cup of hot cocoa and trimming the tree with your family.

Last Friday, Dr. Paxton, Dr. Shoemaker, and 12 Honors students attended a performance of Handel's "Messiah" at National Cathedral. It was a beautiful and festive production!

I snapped this picture as I was reporting to the office this morning. If you were up early enough, the ice was a beautiful sight!

A Penny for your Thoughts (Page 1)

"The typical human life seems to be quite unplanned, undirected, un-lived, and unsavored. Only those who consciously think about the adventure of living as a matter of making choices among options, which they have found for themselves, ever establish real self-control and live their lives fully." —Karl Albrecht
